I know Dilip Bathena professionally from the time he worked as Jr. Scientist at CGARD, in National Institute of Rural development, Government of India, from August 2012 to February, 2015.

I saw him as researcher in research project "Impact of ICT on socio-economic development of Rural Community in Ananthapuramu District, Andhra Pradesh".

He has done impressive analysis of ICT impact on remote rural communities of India.

I observed his very good professional skills during his tenure at NIRD. He always keeps updated with new and emerging knowledge.

I found him to be very hard working, sincere in work. He worked hard with sincerity and passion to make the research work fruitful.
